SourceOne Global Partners Appoints Key Executive

Rob Maltas named Director of Business Development, Science and Innovation

CHICAGO – SourceOne Global Partners has announced the appointment of Rob Maltas to Director of Business Development, Science and Innovation. Maltas is a highly regarded executive with more than 30 years of experience primarily in innovative technologies, product development, sales and business growth. As Director of Business Development, Science and Innovation at SourceOne, he is responsible for providing expertise on scientific and technical support as well as identifying and cultivating new business opportunities.

“Development of global business initiatives, alliance development, and cross market segment synergies will be key areas of Maltas’ stewardship,” said Jesse Lopez, CEO and Founder of SourceOne.

Maltas brings a global perspective and a wealth of diverse experience to SourceOne. He grew up in Harare, Zimbabwe (formerly Salisbury, Rhodesia), graduated from the University of Cape Town in South Africa, and started his career with IBM in Croydon, Surrey, England. Most recently, he spent 18 years with ProCaps Laboratories of Las Vegas in positions ranging from Vice President of Sales to Director of Product Development. He also oversaw Research & Development and Quality Assurance.

Maltas commented, “SourceOne has distinguished itself as a premier innovator of scientifically proven products and technologies. I am impressed with the numerous global partnerships and alliances forged by SourceOne’s leadership team and the resulting competitive advantages and added value portfolio we bring to the global marketplace.”

“Throughout his career, Rob has garnered recognition for his outstanding performance, integrity, and commitment to customer satisfaction,” Lopez added. “He has developed solid and enduring relationships worldwide in nutritional supplements, functional foods and personal care markets. We are grateful for the experience he brings to SourceOne.”
